REROOF AMERICA CONTRACTORS

One real claim, start to finish

Every claim is different. This is one of ours.

The claim: Hail damaged this home in Edmond.

$3,012

The insurance company's first estimate: a repair, below the homeowner's deductible, so no payment

$42,567

The final approval: a full roof replacement

What we did

[Date] CHECK

We met the adjuster on site for their inspection.

April 16, 2025

The insurance company's estimate came in: a repair, for $3,012. That was below the homeowner's $4,216 deductible, so they were told no payment was due.

[Date] CHECK

We sent our supplement, our rebuttal to their estimate, showing everything it missed. It was backed by around 100 captioned photos, building codes and manufacturer specs.

[Date] to [date] CHECK

We followed up with the desk adjuster [number] times, answering their questions and supporting each item.

October 6, 2025

The approval came in: a full roof replacement, for $42,567, $39,555 more than the first estimate.

What our supplement added

Three or four added items, in plain words, from the April and October scopes. CHECK with John: what moved it from a repair to a full replacement

The homeowner's part: signing our service agreement and sending us their insurance paperwork.

What they paid

Their $4,216 deductible.
