On telling it straight

"Tyler helped us out with our roof while we were in the process of selling our house. Instead of trying to sell us a full roof replacement, he inspected everything and told us honestly that the roof was still in good shape and only needed a few minor repairs. The buyer wanted an insurance adjuster to come out and take another look, and the adjuster came to the exact same conclusion Tyler did. Tyler took care of the repairs we needed, helped us get everything handled quickly, and we were able to move forward and get the house sold. I really appreciated his honesty and the fact that he didn't try to sell us something we didn't need. I would definitely recommend Tyler to anyone needing someone trustworthy to look at their roof."

"Tyler came out to inspect our roof recently since we were in the possible impact area of the September 24th hail storm. He was honest with us and said there wasn't enough damage to justify filing a claim and that our roof still had plenty of life left. Really appreciated the honesty and not being pressured into something we didn't need."

"Tyler came out to check my roof after the recent hail in Guthrie since there were reports of really large hail in our area. This is my first house, so I wasn't really sure what to look for. He inspected everything and let me know the roof didn't have any damage and was in great shape. Really appreciated the honesty and peace of mind."

"Someone knocked on our door and I answered. It was a couple of young men who asked me if this loose dog in my front yard was mine. She was our dog who got out of the fence. I thanked them for taking the time to find her home. They asked me about our roof stating they were with this roofing company and asked if they could take a look at our roof for any damage from previous hail occurrences and also if I knew when we last had our roof replaced. It had been several years since, so they got up there and determined we really didn't have any damage. Because of their honesty and easy-going approach without being pushy, I would give their company a shot at replacing our roof should we ever need it or suggest someone I knew who might require their services."

On standing behind the work

"Hail damage necessitated us needing a new roof, including gutters, downspouts, new vents, etc. in other words, the works. I highly recommend Re-Roof America. Not only did they complete the job in a timely fashion with high quality craftsmanship, they took us under their wing to make sure we received everything necessary to accomplish the job correctly and completely. They worked with our insurance provider and guided us throughout the negotiating process. In short, they were complete! I highly recommend Re-Roof America."
